

Kanematsu and French firm Enchanted Tools enter into domestic sales agreement for humanoid AI robot Mirokaï

Kanematsu Corporation (hereinafter “Kanematsu”) and French firm Enchanted Tools have entered into a sales agreement for the humanoid AI robot Mirokaï in Japan, and have also launched a partnership for domestic roll-out. Mirokaï is an advanced AI robot developed by globally-renowned robot designer Mr. Jerome Monceaux, who serves as CEO of Enchanted Tools. Moving forward, Kanematsu will work with official distributor and partner Nagakura Mfg. Co., Ltd. to establish a maintenance support structure to ensure reliable use for domestic customers, as well as to offer Mirokaï nationwide.

◆Spec. Height : 123cm, Weight : 26kg

◆Main features

1. The head camera can recognize facial expressions and emotions. The unique, adorable facial display can express a diverse range of emotions.
2. Capable of interactive dialogue in Japanese thanks to the latest large language model (LLM).
3. Capable of lifting objects weighing up to around 3 kg and pulling trolleys weighing up to around 15 kg.
4. The omnidirectional wheel allows smooth, quiet autonomous travel.

Mirokaï’s effectiveness has been verified in patient care at French medical institutions. In Japan, it is expected to help address issues such as labor shortage, operational efficiency, and an aging society in various settings, including customer service, retail, offices, medical care, nursing care, and education.

Kanematsu sets “expansion of value proposition by exploring and implementing innovation” as one of the key initiatives under its medium-term management plan, “integration 1.1.” Through the social implementation of Mirokaï, we will create new added value and provide solutions that can help address social issues.

◆Mirokaï to appear in International Robot Festival 2025

Please come to see Mirokaï in action. We look forward to seeing you there.
